Criminal Defence Representation at Garda Stations

Vicky Conway & Yvonne Daly

A comprehensive guide to the work and practice of solicitors defending suspects in Garda stations in Ireland. It explores what the role of the solicitor is in the Garda station and what role the interview plays in the criminal justice process.

It outlines the skills necessary to defend suspects in Garda stations and takes the practitioner through the entire process from first contact, to deciding to attend to pre-interview consultation. Particular attention is paid to the thorny issues of disclosure and the right to silence, before considering some of the more practical dimensions of acting in criminal defence work.

Data Protection Law in Ireland

Denis Kelleher

Edited by Denis Kelleher

A must-have title for any practitioner working in data protection law or who wants to ensure they are au fait with the subject as it affects all areas of modern life. In the six years since Denis Kelleher's second edition of Data Protection and Privacy Law in Ireland was published, we have seen the application of GDPR and the enactment of the Data Protection Act 2018. There have been a significant number of decisions from the EU Court of Justice (Shrems II), the Irish High Court (Facebook v DPC) and the UK Supreme Court (Lloyd v Google), all of which are analysed in this title.

Education and the Law

Third Edition

Dympna Glendenning

Education and the Law examines the legal issues surrounding teaching and education, such as tortious liability for injuries to teachers and students, the employment of teachers, school discipline, bullying, freedom of information, and the State's responsibility to children with special educational needs.

This third edition examines in detail key legislation including the Education (Admissions to School) Act 2018, the Data Protection Act 2018 and all recent changes to the Education Acts. Also examined are the developments arising from membership of the European Union and its principles of free movement, non-discrimination and the common vocational training policy.

Disciplinary Procedures in the Statutory Professions

Simon Mills, Aideen Ryan & Colm Scott-Byrne

Various disciplinary and regulatory bodies have different rules, powers and procedures, even while sharing a basic legal framework. This book allows a practitioner who is appearing before such a body to prepare their case by setting out what powers the body has, what evidence it can hear, the form the procedure will take, whether they can call witnesses, and what sanctions it can impose.

This book was the first title to consider the specific question of the regulation of statutory professions in Ireland including architects, surveyors, teachers, pharmacists, health and social care professionals and accountants.

Personal Insolvency Law in Ireland

Alan McGee

Personal insolvency law can be a complex area for practitioners and this text will guide you through the Personal Insolvency process which was introduced in Ireland following the last economic crash by way of The Personal Insolvency Act 2012. The Insolvency Service of Ireland was established in 2013 and began processing insolvency applications in the last quarter of 2013. The process was slow to take off as the banks held a de facto veto on the process and the Act was amended in 2015 to allow for an appeal process. A large body of High Court jurisprudence has now been developed.

The Law of Family Formation in Ireland

Nuala Jackson & Sarah Murray

This book considers the 'family' in Irish society guiding practitioners who are assisting clients to put legal shape on their alternatively formed family to include an in-depth analysis of the law surrounding surrogacy, adoption, fostering and Assisted Human Re-production. This title looks at the background to the laws, the historical development, where we are now, the urgent challenges and the future. It considers the enormous challenges presented by the Adoption Act 2010 for prospective adopting couples and recent judgments in the Superior Courts in Ireland.

Woods and Andrews on Liquor Licensing Laws

Nicola-Jane Andrews

This title covers the practice and procedure requirements relating to an application for a certificate leading to the issue of an intoxicating liquor licence. It also includes a "proofs" checklist section to assist in bringing applications before the Court and an extensive precedents section.

This fifth edition has been updated to reflect the many legislative developments in this area. These include changes in trading hours, the abolition of rateable valuation requirements, the changes in hotel registration criteria, as well as The Public Health (Alcohol) Act 2018 and its provisions for labelling, pricing, advertising and restriction of sales.
